Sentenced to Ten Days in Prison and Must Pay Fine of $500 Each

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 2.—R. S. Sheridan, publisher of the Boise Capital News, and O. Broxon, managing editor and A. R. Cruzen, a local capitalist, conducted for contempt of the Idaho supreme court for criticizing the court's decision barring the Progressive candidates for presidential electors from the Idaho ballot occupies a cell in the county jail tonight where they will serve out a 10-day sentence. In addition to the jail sentence imposed on the three men they also were sentenced to pay fines of $500 each.

The supreme court room was crowded this morning when the court announced its decision. The opinion written by Justice Sullivan was concurred in by Chief Justice Stewart. It upheld the inherent right of courts to punish for contempt of the opinion issued on the ground that the case was not pending at the time of the publication of the article in question.

Cruzen Equally Guilty

Although A. R. Cruzen in his answer to the court charges made no claim that he was in no way connected with the paper, the court statement of the publisher made in compliance with the federal law was introduced showing the ownership of stock and bonds of the company, and the court held Cruzen equally guilty with the publisher and editor. When the court asked Broxon if he knew of any reason why sentence should not be pronounced he replied:

None that this court will consider.

Occupy Famous Cell

The three newspaper men were incarcerated and taken to the county jail where they were placed in the same cell occupied by Mayor Hawwood and Pettibone during their trial for alleged complicity in the assassination of Governor Steiengren.

The suit against Sheridan, Cruzen and Broxon was brought December by Attorney General McDougall. The publication of the message from Colonel Roosevelt criticizing the court's decision was admitted by the publisher. He stated that the contempt claiming right under the constitution to criticize the court.

CINCINNATI VISITED BY $250,000 FIRE

CINCINNATI, Jan. 3.—(Friday).—The Carls building, a seven-story stone structure at the southwest corner of Fourth avenue and Walnut street was almost destroyed by fire here tonight, entailing a loss estimated at $250,000.

The building is situated in the center of Cincinnati's commercial district, within several hundred feet of the Gibson house which was burned several weeks ago. For a while the Sinton hotel, on the west side of the building, was threatened, but escaped damage when the fire was confined to the Carls building.

Among the firms that sustained the greatest damage was the First National Savings Bank and Trust company, the Missouri Pacific offices, the new quarters of the Rendigs-Lothman company, which were wiped out in the Gibson house fire, and Frohman & Co., wholesale jewelers.

A heavy snow storm hampered the work of the firemen.

JAS. R. KEENE, NOTED SPORTSMAN, IS DEAD

Coming to New York he was a prominent figure in stock market operations for more than a quarter of a century. He lost a fortune in 1884, but made another one six years afterward.

Mr. Keene's hobby and pastime was the turf and his stables made his name one to compare with in the horse world. Mr. Keene, at different times, owned many of America's best horses and his turf partnerships for years headed the list of American owners.

IN DEFIANCE OF HOUSE FINANCIER STILL IN HIDING

TELLER REFUSES
EED ORDER

Various Plans Evolved for Serving Subpoenas so Far Fail

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A series of conferences and a vast amount of digging into dusty tomes of law occupied the members of the house connected with the money trust investigation to day in their efforts to evolve a plan to secure the testimony of William Rockefeller whom the sergeant-at-arms of the house has tried in vain to serve with a subpoena since last June.

Meanwhile Sergeant-at-Arms Riddell and a small army of deputies and private detectives camped about the New York home of the oil magnate.

After talking with house leaders and with Jerry South, chief clerk of the house, Chairman Puleo of the money trust committee tonight issued a statement reviewing the attempts to secure the testimony of Mr. Rockefeller in which he expressed the hope that it would be necessary to exert the full legal power of the house to secure service of the subpoena.

Plans Not Divulged

Mr. Puleo would not say what plans were evolved to aid the sergeant-at-arms in his work. He said a meeting of the committee would be called tomorrow Saturday and the matter would be taken up formally.

Members of the committee after having the precedents were puzzled as to the exact method by which the house could enforce the service of the subpoena. Mr. Puleo, however, declined to believe that the fact that the committee had received through attorneys a certificate setting forth that Mr. Rockefeller was too ill to testify might be interpreted as an acknowledgment by the oil magnate that he knew that the process had been issued for him. Mr. Puleo was of the opinion that the fact in the case could be certified to the house and an attachment for Mr. Rockefeller issued by resolution. This would allow the sergeant-at-arms to seize the witnesses.

Many Rumors Afloat

While the house officials pondered the question at length a series of wild reports as to proposed plans for getting the elusive witness circulated about the capital. One rumor was that the sergeant-at-arms was about to employ a woman detective to get the elusive millionaire. Another was that an attack in force was to be made by the deputies stationed about the Rockefeller home. Still another was that the military authorities would be called on for assistance. The members of the committee laughed at the fantastic rumors.

Until congress authorizes a writ of attachment for Mr. Rockefeller, Mr. Riddell said there would be nothing to do but to wait for the millionaire voluntarily to accept service.

Reports that the Fifth avenue residence would be entered by force attracted crowds to the neighborhood today. Lecturers on sightseeing automobiles pointed to the mansion and exclaimed that the capital. One rumor was that the sergeant-at-arms was about to employ a woman detective to get the elusive millionaire. Another was that an attack in force was to be made by the deputies stationed about the Rockefeller home. Still another was that the military authorities would be called on for assistance. The members of the committee laughed at the fantastic rumors.

"I Am Democratic Leader New York",
Asserts Gov. Sulzer

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Governor William Sulzer said tonight that his election as chief executive made him the Democratic leader of New York.

"If any Democrat in the state challenges that leadership, he said, 'let him come out in the open and the people will decide'."

The governor's statement was made in response to inquiries as to whether Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, had endorsed John H. Carey of Watertown and John H. DeLoach of Brooklyn, two of three members of a commission selected by Governor Sulzer to investigate state department and bureau.

"I am the Democratic leader of the state, the people decided at the polls and I stand on their verdict," said the governor emphatically. "I can't succeed in doing what I want to do as governor unless I am the Democratic leader."

The governor made it clear that he would receive anyone who desired to see him at any time including Colonel Roosevelt as head of the Progressive movement. William Barker Jr., as chairman of the Republican state committee, Charles F. Murphy as leader of the New York county Democratic organization, J. Pierpont Morgan or Thomas F. Ryan.

But he added, "they must see me in the open the same as any other person."

The governor said he realized that Mr. Murphy as the leader of an independent political organization in New York deserved recognition as such and that he would receive requests from him reserving the right however to deny them if they were not proper.

Governor Norris of Montana
Urged for Secretary of Interior

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 2.—Senator Henry L. Norris of Montana, this morning urged President-elect Wilson to appoint Gov. Edwin J. Norris of Montana secretary of the interior.

The term of Governor Norris will expire January 14. Senator Norris told the president-elect that Governor Norris had made a particular study in all the western and northwestern states of questions affecting their development and resources.

Senator Norris has very much to say for himself in referring to Governor Norris. He has seen him at the conference of the house of governors. He made an admirable impression and is very aggressive.

The president-elect, however, told his previous policy of not committing himself in respect to appointments.

Senator Norris brought petitions from chambers of commerce and recommendations from many other organizations urging the selection of Governor Norris. He also announced that J. T. Walsh soon to be elected from Montana, would come in a few days to speak in behalf of Governor Norris.

With respect to the discussion concerning the secretary rule in committee appointments in the United States senate, Mr. Norris said:

There is no date yet set.

Two Women Proposed

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 2.—Two women have been proposed for places in the cabinet, one of them for secretary of war. This disclosure was made today when Mr. Wilson was asked if the suffragettes had suggested any names of women for cabinet positions.

I have received only two requests, he replied. The recent nominations were made in a general way but one did urge a particular lady for secretary of war. I am not interested. But I ought to add that it was in the interests of peace.

BRINGS ASSURANCE MEXICAN ATTITUDE

Foreign Minister Declares
American Interests Will Be Protected

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Senor Pedro Lascurain, Mexican minister for foreign affairs and personal representative of President Madero, came to Washington today to tell again to President Taft and Secretary Knox the story of his government's successful struggle with rebellions to reassure them of its ability to protect American lives and property everywhere in that republic, and incidentally, it was whispered tonight to find if there is any truth in the recent reports of intervention by the United States.

Senor Lascurain had two opportunities to talk and to listen at the White house today, and tomorrow he will be given an audience by Secretary Knox. Although White house officials had no statement to make tonight, it became known that President Taft made no specific demands upon the Mexican foreign minister.

Interested in Events

He expressed particular interest in conditions in northern Mexico and was assured that recent troop movements in that part of the republic and Madero's efforts to meet with this country's desires for protection there had proved fruitful. He was able through reports to the state department in the last few days partially at least, to confirm Senor Lascurain's statements.

The president was glad to hear of the reported improvement in conditions in northern Mexico and was said to have expressed the hope that the Madero government would be able to cope with the situation. So far he has seen no reason to believe that it will be unable to do so but the assurances from the Mexican minister were welcome.

Senor Lascurain coming to Washington was undershadowed and his call at the White house was arranged only today. He first paid the formal call required by all foreign officials who expect to discuss matters of state with the president. It lasted less than ten minutes but tonight he was in conference with President Taft almost an hour. It was explicitly stated however that the president had made no demands upon the Mexican government but had issued no ultimatum and that he was impressed with the story of the improved conditions.

TEXAS SENATOR MAKES
FAREWELL SPEECH

Says Roosevelt Is Only Democratic Foe of the Future

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Senator Joseph R. Bailey of Texas, long one of the progressive and working speakers of the United States senate, delivered today before a crowded senate and galleries his final speech as a member of that body.

Within a day or two his resignation will be laid before the senate and announced to Governor Clegg of Texas, his expectation being that R. M. Johnston of Houston will be named to fill his term, which would end March 1.

Senator Bailey's speech was in attack on the initial and referendum as institutions that would be adopted by the senate and the present system of American government. He said they originated in the desire of politicians to escape the responsibility of action on such questions as the location of state capitals and the settlement of public lands.

He declared that the schemes for direct legislation by the people would convert the United States from a republic to a democracy and would give its control into the hands of the unskilled and the ignorant.

WIND FANS FOREST FIRES ACROSS HILLS

Spectacular Blaze Calls Out
Small Army of Volunteers to Fight Flames

Fanned by a 40-mile-an-hour gale forest fire breaking out shortly before 11 o'clock last night swept the mountain southwest of the Portland mill, and at an early hour this morning was still burning. The blaze was spectacular in the extreme, illuminating a mountain with sheets of flame leaving a glowing trail as it spread through the timber and undergrowth.

Hundreds witnessed the brilliant spectacle, and not a few were alarmed—a fear that firebrands might be swept to property at the base of the mountain and then spread until a general conflagration might result. The police and fire stations were besieged with telephone calls from those alarmed.

The fire covered an area of about 75 acres at five central points within a mile of each other and both about one-fourth of a mile above the Short Line railroad tracks. From these points the fire radiated in zigzag trails along the mountain side spreading into a general conflagration when the thicker timber was reached.

Rangers Fight Flames

Forest ranger and railroad employees are fighting the fire, but at 1 o'clock this morning had not gained control. Their efforts being futile against the strength of wind in spreading the flames. But little damage resulted. It is thought as the fire is in a sparsely timbered tract. The Short Line railroad at midnight sent a special train of employees from Portland Subline to assist in fighting the fire.

A grass fire near the Portland mill alarmed residents in that section of the city shortly after midnight but was extinguished before spreading to adjoining property. An hour later the department cut out fire on a burning house at Seventeenth street and Colorado avenue. This fire was caused by hot ashes.

MEDIATION MAY YET BE SOLUTION TO BALKAN WAR

BITTER STRUGGLE NOW
IMMINENT

Turkey Urged to Cede Islands to Powers for Ultimate Disposition

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The proposition that the powers of the world should have a day of general relaxation today in the meeting of the ambassadors today was put forward by Lord Grey, British foreign secretary, in a speech at the House of Commons.

Lord Grey said that the situation in the Balkans was such that the powers must work out a plan of mediation in the near future.

The Turkish ultimatum to the Greeks on January 19th has caused a day of general relaxation today in the meeting of the ambassadors today was put forward by Lord Grey, British foreign secretary, in a speech at the House of Commons.

Lord Grey said that the situation in the Balkans was such that the powers must work out a plan of mediation in the near future.

Compromise Is Possible

The allies on the other hand have little to lose by conceding as they desire to settle the Turkish empire. The real stumbling block is the desire of the Allies to maintain the status quo in the Balkans.

Some suggest that Turkey cede them to the powers which could divide their empire. It is possible that such a course has been taken in other cases, but the present situation is more difficult than the present. For instance in the war of 1866 between Italy and Austria, Austria, although victorious was induced to cede the Venetian provinces to France, which transferred them to Italy.

Supporters of this plan hint that Turkey might even cede the islands to the allies as has practically been done with Albania. On condition that the powers pledge themselves to claim as in the case of Albania the right to divide the rest of the Aegean archipelago.

The struggle now will be bitter between the Turks and the allies. The former at the moment is appealing to the tribunal of Europe, the latter are threatening to resume the war. It is expected however that relief from this situation may result from the meeting of the ambassadors to whose judgment probably both Turkey and the allies will submit if they decide to do so.

The powers are particularly concerned in the question because some of the islands of the Aegean are of international importance commanding the entrance to the Dardanelles while others are of great strategic value to the Gulf of Smyrna. The rest of the islands still in the hands of Italy which occupied them during the war with Turkey.

If the powers unanimously ask Greece to evacuate some of the islands already occupied it is believed Greece will obey as she did at Athens.

"THE LITTLEST REBEL"

A. H. Woods, presenting Dustin Farnum, in the stirring drama entitled "The Littlest Rebel," promises to be the center of interest when he comes to the Grand Opera House, Monday night, January 6. This stirring play and his successful Civil war production comes intact, preceded by lighter scenes to Richmond, is trapped by the Union officer, Colonel Morrison, and his prison in the left of the cabin, but the little girl pleads so effectively and the father's plight is so pitiful, the commanding officer of the squad that has taken him permits him to escape. There is a skirmish, however, and both captor and captive are betrayed. A court-martial orders that one is to be hanged as a spy and the the "rebel" is the great success achieved in the production, a drama and feature. A feature of the performance is the introduction of a spectacular and thrilling battle between a rebel and southern forces, fought outside of Richmond, in the spring of 1864. In this scene the rebel, with a troop of flying cavalry, take part. Supporting Dustin Farnum are Alexis H. Lane, Morris Barn, whose impersonation of General Grant has created wide-spread interest, George Tomlinson, formerly of "Theatricals," and Mrs. Miss Helen Tinsley and others of equal importance. The story of other is a traitor. Again the littlest rebel, after a visit to General Grant's camp, is instrumental in affecting their release.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD"

"The Old Homestead," ever old and ever new, comes to the Grand Opera House, Saturday, January 4, matinee and night, and with it the ever-popular Uncle Josh, whose joys and sorrows, misadventures and successes, so invariably interest an audience, and arouse its sympathies. DUSTIN FARNUM

In "The Littlest Rebel," at Grand Opera House, Monday Night, January 6.

"The Littlest Rebel" arrives on the scene of the successful attack on the rebel army, the close of the war. The family of a Confederate general is in the hands of his wife and a young girl, who have taken refuge after the burning of their home, in a plantation cabin. The wife dies, leaving the little girl alone. Her father, hoping to get her through the Federal army, and seeing him portrayed, one sees right altogether of the idea that it is a dramatic counterfeiter rather than the genuine Yankee, who apparently steps from his hayfield to the barnyard of the Whitcomb Homestead, nesting among the New Hampshire hills. Verily, the old play, dear to everyone who has seen it, has lost none of its popularity, but rather increases in favor as the years wear on. Year after year it has repeated its success, and it has even improved with age. Little melodramatic touches and effects have been eliminated, until now, there is more natural wit and humor in the dialogue, and more genuine touches of pathos and sentiment than ever before. It is old, yet ever new, and it is absolutely true to the New England country life which it represents. In Joshua Whitcomb, the central figure of that circle of familiar types of humanity: a prosperous, warm-hearted, peace-loving, God-fearing Yankee farmer. And, associated with him, we shall find, as of old, those other delightful characters: Cy Prime, Seth Perkins, Happy Jack, Aunt Matilda, Ed Ganzer, Rickety Ann, and the others.

The musical features are the same as of old, the double male quartet is just as good today as it was in the days when Chauncey Olcott, Richard J. Ross, Tom Lewis and others could be mentioned that were members of the organization.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.00—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles. Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant. The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in pinalcol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula. A quantity of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to the Pine Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

W. H. Chapman, Winnebago, Neb., tells how he did it. "My two children had a very bad cough and the doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and cured of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one six-months of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. A mean, stuffy cold with hoarse, wheezy breathing is just the kind that runs into bronchitis or pneumonia. Don't trifle with such serious conditions, but take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. Contains no opiates. The Robinson Drug Co. Adv.

PROUD OF LARGE FAMILIES

From London Tit-Bits. The Chinese are proud of large families, and a large family living together under one roof is looked upon as a proof of the good temper and correct course of life of its members and as a sure path to prosperity. A large family which is able to live together without dividing up the property always receives much credit and is highly respected. It is one of the highest distinctions in China to have Wu Fu Tung Tang, or five generations, under one roof, although such a distinction is attained by very few. According to a recent census, the family of Meng Yu Shih, a widow of the village of Mantao, in the territory of Wei-hai wei, has the distinction of being the largest in the town. Her family consists of 66 members, and with one servant, there are 67 mouths to be fed daily. Meng Yu Shih is 66 years old, and has nine sons, and numerous grandchildren and great grandchildren, all living under her roof. She has not yet attained the ambition of being the head of Wu Fu Tung Tang, but the size of her family has already given her the honor and pleasure of being the largest in China, even if she has not five generations under one roof.

There are many households with more than 40 members, and almost all old and distinguished families of China have at least 20 members. Families of small size, three or four, are considered rather bad form, even if they are rich and occupying high positions. Size of family is as valuable in China as size of strong box.

GOV. SULZER BEGINS ECONOMY CAMPAIGN

Directs Investigation of All
State Departments to Cut Down Expenses

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—John N. Carlisle of Watertown and John H. Delaney of Brooklyn have been selected by Governor Sulzer as two of three members of a commission to make a searching investigation into all state departments and bureaus, "to ascertain where expenditures can be checked and the means of economy are saved, and also to recommend to the legislature the desirability of abolishing useless offices, consolidating wherever possible bureaus and committees with the sole object of more rigid economy and a greater degree of efficiency."

Governor Sulzer said no department would be permitted to send any public papers while he was governor of the state.

COLORADO CITY MAN VICTIM IOWA WOMAN?

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 2.—Florence Gamble, 32 years old and good looking, who styles herself "Iowa's champion heart breaker," broke down and confessed to federal officers here today that she had corresponded with more than 500 longshoremen over the country, from some of whom she received amounts running from $15 to $50.

She told United States Commissioner W. C. McArthur and Charles O'Neil, postoffice inspector, that she had received an average of 150 letters a week in the last two months. The woman withdrew her plea of not guilty to an information charging her with having swindled J. L. Prather of Arlington, Tex., out of $30 through her matrimonial schemes.

According to Inspector O'Neil, other charges growing out of the same case will be filed against the woman. Commissioner McArthur accepted her "guilty" plea and bound her over to the federal grand jury which convenes next May. She furnished bonds of $1,000.

"I have almost worn out my picture kissing it," she wrote Prather, whom she called "the dearest man in all this world."

"I am a little short of money," she continued. "If you will send me $25 I will come at once to Fort Worth and we can get married as soon as I arrive."

"Yes, dear, I know you are the one for me. I don't want you to get such a thing into your head that I am after your money. I would not come if I believed you thought I was. I am not that kind of a woman. I am honest and true to you."

Colorado City Man Victim?

The inspector says the woman's victims include: Bert Gayer, Cogswell, N. D.; Adolph Blessing, Victor, Mont.; N. A. Weaver, Colorado City, Colo.; F. E. Runcorn, Blith, Cal.; R. L. Randolph, Niagara Falls; Orville Wilson, Minneapolis; and Louis Gallitzer, Holiday, N. D.

N. A. Weaver, whose home is given above as Colorado City, is not known here, and his name does not appear in the directory.

TAFT MAY ABANDON IDEA GOETHALS APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Opposition of Democratic senators to President Taft's plan of putting Col. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, at the head of the civil government of the zone, took such proportion today that some of Mr. Taft's advisers urged him to forego the plan and leave the creation of the new zone government to his successor, President-elect Wilson.

Some who talked with the president early in the day were convinced that he would canvass the situation further before abandoning his plan. Others in close touch with the president were positive that out of consideration for Colonel Goethals, whom he does not wish to involve in a political dispute, he would give up the idea, and that Colonel Goethals, immediately after appearing before the congressional committee formulating appropriations for fortifications at the canal, would return to his work.

Chinese to Adopt American Styles in Their Dressing

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—The centuries old styles in clothing for both men and women of China have come under the disapproval of the cabinet of the Chinese republic and an edict issued calling upon the women to abandon their trousers for the occidental skirt, and the men to give up their comfortable loose clothes for the stock business and conventional evening clothes of the Caucasian. A copy of the edict has been received by Yung Yew, consul here for the China republic, together with pictures of clothing prescribed for both sexes. The vernacular papers here print the edict and illustrations today.

The business derby and the formal silk hat are the only two mentioned for men. Nothing is said of headgear for the women, who, aside from their ornaments, never have worn head coverings.

Men are allowed high calfkin and low tan shoes, while the women are limited to high shoes to suit their taste.

Besides shoes, but three articles of dress are prescribed for women. One, a loose fitting garment on the lines of a kimono, is for house wear. An extremely conventional pleated skirt and shirt waist evidently are supposed to complete her wardrobe.

At the expressed wish of President Yuan Shi Kai, the edict, which was received several days ago, was held until New Year for publication.

The Chinese women of this city have for several years used American styles interchangeably with their own trousers and suits. Chinese girls at American colleges have been noted for their correct appearance in American clothes, but occasionally were seen in their native garments.

As the Easter season has always been a joyful one for American milliners, so one of the most pleasing at-

WASHINGTON THREATENED

NOW BY HEAVY FLOODS

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 2.—Rain fell all day in western Washington, and the conditions for a widespread flood are present—15 feet of snow in the mountains, more snow falling, rain in the foothills and a warm chinook wind blowing from the sea. The rivers of western Washington are already near the danger point.

DYNAMITERS ARE PLACED AT WORK

Court Grants Writ of Error. Hockin Does Not Ask New Trial

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Jan. 2.—Peeling potatoes in the kitchen, carpentering and constructing steel buildings at the federal penitentiary here were some of the regular duties assigned today to the 33 labor union officials convicted in the dynamite plot. Otis A. Twitmore, the Pacific coast labor leader and editor, was assigned to do kitchen work, his first duty being to peel potatoes. Thrown in the gray prison uniform, Twitmore, a man weighing 270 pounds, who has figured largely in labor union movements in California, put on an apron and began at once to peel potatoes in the prison kitchen.

Frank M. Ryan, president of the iron workers' international union, whose sentence of seven years was the heaviest of all, was assigned to work in the carpenter shop. Although an iron worker, it was thought best because of his age to give him work comparatively light. Also assigned to the kitchen, Herbert S. Hockin was handed a mop and put to work scrubbing the floors.

Because of his feeble physical condition, Henry W. Leightner of Denver, one of the iron workers' executive board members, was given outdoor work. He will assist in the maintenance of bricks for new prison buildings.

Peter J. Smith of Cleveland, another iron worker, was assigned to duties in the carpenter shop.

Another iron workers' union official who was taken off his trade was Eugene A. Chaney of San Francisco. Chaney's health not being good, it was decided to allow him to work in the store room.

Judge Grants Writ.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 2.—After attorneys for the 33 convicted dynamite conspirators had written their application for a writ of superadeas, Federal Judge A. W. Anderson today granted their prayer for a writ of error. During the hearing, W. N. Harding announced that Herbert S. Hockin would not ask an appeal in his case. The hearing was brief. The granting of the writ of error means that the request for a superadeas will be taken to the United States circuit court of appeals or one of the judges of the court. United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller said he was ready to appear with the defense counsel before any court or judge at any time to argue the application for a writ of superadeas.

Chester H. Krums, spokesman for counsel for the defense, declared Mr. Miller would be notified as soon as the judge and time had been decided upon.

"Your honor," interposed Mr. Harding, of the defense counsel, just before the hearing was concluded, "I wish to announce that the defendant Hockin will not ask an appeal in his case. He is satisfied with the sentence imposed upon him."

"Then he must be the only one," Judge Anderson said.

Others May Not Appeal.

"I am not sure," replied Mr. Harding, "while I am in no position to say at this time, there may be others who will not ask an appeal. As soon as I learn definitely, I shall notify the district attorney."

Application for a superadeas in connection with the convicted defendants of the dynamite conspiracy case will be made in the circuit court of appeals at Chicago tomorrow.

This announcement was made tonight after a conference of attorneys.

Counsel for the defense, President Attorney Miller left tonight for Chicago with the understanding that the matter would receive attention by the court tomorrow morning.

The writ of error will probably not be presented to the circuit court of appeals for several weeks.

MORMONS ASK AID TO START TEXAS COLONY

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 2.—A committee consisting of Julius Kombe, H. S. Harris and O. P. Brown, representing the Mormon refugees who were driven from their homes in Mexico at the outbreak of the present revolution, applied to the first presidency of the Mormon church today for financial assistance in establishing a Mormon colony in Texas.

Mr. Brown said there are 1,600 refugees in Texas and it is their plan to settle on a tract of 6,500 acres of land in the Fort Worth, 300 miles east of El Paso, where they will establish a Mormon settlement. It is the desire, according to Mr. Brown, to be near their old homes in Mexico so they can return and reestablish themselves there when the rebel activities cease.

The Mormon church officers have declined to say whether they would assist the refugees in their proposed plan.

JUDGE SETS SALE OF RAILROAD LINES ASIDE

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—The sale of the Illinois properties of the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric Railroad company by the receivers was set aside as illegal by Judge Landis in the United States district court today.

Judge Landis held the bidding was suppressed and the purchase price was $2,400,000 below the true valuation. The purchase price was $1,650,000.

HARRIMAN INHERITANCE TAX HELPS BUILD CAPITOL

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 2.—The inheritance tax paid to the state of Utah by the estate of the late E. H. Harriman will cover about two-thirds of the cost of the erection of the state capitol which was contracted for last year. The Harriman estate paid the state nearly three quarters of a million dollars, and this is set aside by the last legislature of the state.

STEAMSHIP CO. FAILS ACCOUNT RATE WAR

Large Concern in California Admits Liabilities of Over $300,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—S. Chesbrough, owner of the California Atlantic Steamship company, with Harry S. Bates, continued a rumor today that the company had failed for $300,000. The California Atlantic company has been in competition since October 1, 1910, with the Pacific Mail Steamship company in the San Francisco and New York freight traffic via the Panama railroad.

The rate war from February 1 to June 1911, when freight rates were cut to $3 a ton, was given by Mr. Chesbrough as the main cause of the failure, although other reasons were assigned. The exact condition of the company's affairs cannot be ascertained here, but it is known that the debt includes $100,000 borrowed from J. H. Wolford & Co. of Liverpool, $50,000 due the Pacific Stevedore & Railroad Co. of this city, a large overdraft in a local bank, many claims for damages on route to freight, and bills for supplies from a number of San Francisco houses.

Fail to Obtain Loan.

The unsuccessful efforts of Bates, who has been in New York for the last month to renew the Liverpool loan or to sell the company to the Welford concern, is said to have precipitated the failure. Another cause mentioned by Mr. Chesbrough is the inability of the company to pay the chartered price for the steamship Portland, which arrived with a cargo from Panama last Wednesday, and could not be unloaded on account of the refusal of the owners' agent to grant permission. The vessel is owned by C. S. Diamond of New York. C. W. Wiley of Seattle, president of the Alaska Pacific Steamship Co., is his coast representative.

"I cannot give the exact amounts of debts," said Mr. Chesbrough, "nor can I give any definite statement regarding the assets."

Can't Pay Boat Charter.

As in the case of the Portland, when the ship arrived with cargo from Panama, it will not be able to pay its charter. We used the government form of charter, the vessel's owner supplying the crew and almost everything else.

"The sailing vessels Mungo Reed and John Kna, now out, respectively, $5 and $6 days from Philadelphia with cargo for this port, have no connection with the steamship company. Neither has the fire and marine insurance firm of Bates, Chesbrough and Lowery any connection with our business."

It is owned by S. L. Lowery.

Began With Four Ships.

The corporation, when it began business, had four chartered steamers. The Pacific fleet was increased to eight and three steamers were put into operation on the Atlantic for a time because of the inability of the government line on the Atlantic side to handle the increasing business.

For the last several months only four ships have been operated on the Pacific, but these were larger than the eight displaced and had about the same carrying capacity. They were the Portland, the Mackinac, the Lewis Luckenbach and the Delade.

After the disastrous rate war the company planned to increase the rates. This was opposed by the San Francisco Traffic association and its protest was sustained by the secretary of war.

Extend Courtesy to Officers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Secretary Meyer will invite the officers of the British warship Natal, which reaches New York tomorrow, to visit the White House before returning to England. On account of the solemnity of the British ships' mission, simple entertainment will be accorded the officers. Captain Tompkins M. Potts, representing Secretary Meyer, will go to New York tonight and extend the invitation to Captain Potts, commanding the Natal. If the invitation is accepted, Admiral Blake, commanding the American funeral squadron, which is to convey the British ship to New York harbor, will assign an escort to the visitors. The ship probably will come to Washington Sunday.

BRITISH SHIP WITH BODY WHITE LAW REID WILL ARRIVE TODAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(Friday). Far out from shore, their lights hardly discernible in the thick weather prevailing, the British cruiser Natal, bringing home the body of the late ambassador to England, Whitelaw Reid, and her escort of six United States warships, came aboard of this island at 1 o'clock this morning. The British warship was met at Nantuxet at 3 o'clock Thursday morning by the American naval vessels, and the procession steamed slowly for this port. As they were proceeding when they sighted, this morning, the warships were turned to reach Sandy Hook long before daylight.

Met by United States Ships.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The British cruiser Natal, bringing home the body of Whitelaw Reid, late ambassador to Great Britain, reached Nantuxet at 1 o'clock this morning. She was met there by the escort of six United States warships, sent to convey the funeral ship to this port.

The United States squadron consists of the battleships Florida and North Dakota, and four destroyers, commanded by Rear Admiral Blake.

The Natal is approaching port faster than was expected. She was not expected at Nantuxet until 2 o'clock this afternoon. The distance from Nantuxet to Sandyhook is 193 miles. The Natal with her escort will therefore reach the Hook tonight and anchor until daylight, steaming up the Hudson tomorrow about 10 o'clock.

The American vessels, sighted the Natal, were half-masted. After the Natal anchors off Grant's tomb, the body of the late ambassador will be escorted to the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. The funeral will take place Saturday morning.

Extend Courtesy to Officers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Secretary Meyer will invite the officers of the British warship Natal, which reaches New York tomorrow, to visit the White House before returning to England. On account of the solemnity of the British ships' mission, simple entertainment will be accorded the officers. Captain Tompkins M. Potts, representing Secretary Meyer, will go to New York tonight and extend the invitation to Captain Potts, commanding the Natal. If the invitation is accepted, Admiral Blake, commanding the American funeral squadron, which is to convey the British ship to New York harbor, will assign an escort to the visitors. The ship probably will come to Washington Sunday.

the Mississippi river and its tributaries and a member of the committee on claims, coast and insular survey, interior department expenditures, immigration, Indian depredations, private land claims and public lands.

Governor Arkansas Three Times.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 2.—(Friday).—United States Senator Jeff Davis was the only man enjoying the distinction of having been governor of Arkansas for three terms. He was first elected to the office in 1890 and held it until 1895 when he was elected to the senate for the term beginning the next year.

He was re-nominated at the recent primaries over Congressman Stephen Brundage. As the legislature is overwhelmingly "Democratic," he would probably have been re-elected at the session that convenes this month.

He once held the office of attorney general of Arkansas.

Mr. Davis was born in Little Rock county, Ark., in 1852 and was educated at Russellville, Ark., and at Vanderbilt university. He was admitted to the bar at the age of 19.

Senator Davis complained of feeling badly early in the evening, but the family physician who was called, did not regard his condition as serious. At midnight the senator called to his son, who was in an adjoining room, that he was ill and to summon a physician.

Doctor Arrived Too Late.

A doctor arrived half an hour later. As he entered the room Senator Davis fell back on his bed and was dead when the physician reached him. Up to the time he called his son, Senator Davis had appeared well.

Senator Davis, who had returned home from Washington for the holidays, seemed in his usual health and yesterday was on the streets.

During his last political campaign in September there was general comment on the fact that Senator Davis did not use the vicious methods that characterized his earlier campaigns.

Senator Davis is survived by a widow and seven children. The oldest son, Wallace, aged 24, has been associated with the senator in his office. His oldest daughter, Miss Bessie, acted as his private secretary. His other children are: Miss Jeff, 17; Mrs. Laura and Louis, age students in local schools. Senator Davis had a heart attack.

FREAK PACKAGES ARE TAXING PARCEL POST

Live Jack Rabbit Sent by Mail in Chicago; Also Broken Shovel

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Two new operations of the new parcel post system, thousands of packages that they cannot be transported, and thousands of others claimed with ordinary postage instead of the distinctive parcel post stamps.

Most of the freaks have gone through, but the two latter classes will have to take the slow course through the local letter office. Postoffice officials, however, are confident that all the wrangles in the new system, which have been out since a few days' practice on the part of the public.

President Taft received one of the "freak" packages. It contained silver spoons from John Wagonmaker of Philadelphia. Postmaster General Hitchcock has received several packages.

Eggs Sent 300 Miles.

Eggs from Long Island, 300 miles away, passed through the local postoffice safely. Officials said many other fragile shipments, properly packed, were being handled without mishap, all over the country. All classes of merchandise and of course all mail matter formerly indicated as "fragile," continued to pour through the postoffice of the country, indicating to officials that the new service is destined to have a phenomenal growth.

Postmaster General Hitchcock today issued an order admitting to the parcel post service "spade or shovels, whether in detached parts of otherwise."

Frisco Office Swamped.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—San Francisco's postoffice is literally swamped with matter consigned to the new parcel post. So great has been the demand for stamps that the $375,000 requisition made at the outset is already reaching exhaustion, and Postmaster Pisk issued an order today halting sales to $20 to any one person on firm, until urgent telegrams to Washington bring a fresh supply.

Trunks and other freight sent by California to their friends from the bulk of the parcel post matter, but will go on ducks and look for a while in today's lot.

In spite of repeated warnings, 800 parcels were deposited today around street mail boxes, with ordinary postage on them. They will be sent to the dead letter office.

Virtually all of the downtown department stores are making their deliveries by post.

Jack Rabbit Sent by Mail.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Freak packages, used to test the new parcel post practically clogged the mails here today. Among the unusual articles were a live jack rabbit, sent to a commission firm, and a broken shovel, returned to a hardware house.

1,000 Pairs Shoes Sent.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—The first business day in which the parcel post has been used in Chicago saw nearly 20,000 packages carried with the new stamps.

Business houses in the downtown district gave the system a wholesale trial to compare it with the parcel delivery service. More than a thousand pairs of shoes were mailed.

The first carrier on this morning had in his bag two suits of clothing, a package of five pounds of butter and many other parcels.

Coffin Sent by Mail.

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 2.—For the first time in the history of the country, a coffin was sent through the mails today from the Zanesville postoffice. It weighed 14 pounds and was sent by a coffin manufacturing company to an undertaker in Dexter, Ohio. The lid had to be sent as a separate package so the body of the coffin would come within the 11-pound limit. Total postage was 68 cents.

CALIFORNIA NEW RECALL LAW GIVEN FIRST TEST

SAN JOSE, Cal., Jan. 2.—The recall election under the new state legislature was held today in the Twenty-eighth senatorial district, for the recall of State Marshal Black and the selection of his successor. Partial returns indicate the recall of Black by a large majority and the election of Herbert C. Jones, Republican, to succeed him.

Black was a Progressive leader in the state senate and formulated a number of reform measures adopted at the last legislature. He was secretary of the Palo Alto Building & Loan association, which was closed by order of a state commissioner last summer. After Black admitted a shortage of more than $250,000, the Republican central committee of Santa Clara county, dominated by Progressives, then demanded Black's resignation from the senate, and when it was refused, instituted recall proceedings. Black is awaiting trial on several indictments.

Akely Estate Settled; Widow to Receive 5-12

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—By a compromise reached today, the long legal battle over the estate of the late R. C. Akely, wealthy Minneapolis lumberman, was ended. Mrs. Clara Hood-Royce Akely, the widow, who was formerly the millionaire's housekeeper, is to receive five-twelfths of the estate, or approximately a half million dollars, and the remainder is to go to Akely's daughter, Mrs. Florence Akely Quirk.

Akely died at Long Beach last July. Mrs. Quirk opposed the claim of her son-in-law on the ground that the latter had been married to the aged lumberman only a year prior to his death and therefore as community property all of the estate should have gone to her daughter.

Akely's daughter, who is now in Los Angeles, had been in the city for some time.

BROKER KILLS WIFE, AND THEN HIMSELF

BELLEVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Henry C. Eddy, a wealthy retired Wall Street broker, shot and killed his young wife in their home on East South Bay street, today and then blew out his own brains. The murder and suicide followed by some six weeks' Mrs. Eddy's reconciliation with her husband, whom she left last summer.

Mr. Eddy's bedroom, where the tragedy was staged, gave evidence of a violent struggle. Servants on an upper floor were awakened by revolver shots and rushed in to find Mrs. Eddy dead and her husband dying. She had fallen in the doorway, apparently in a futile effort to escape. Mr. Eddy died before a doctor reached him.

Mrs. Eddy, 12 years younger than her husband, left Belleville last summer and was gone until the latter part of November.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Eddy had declined to discuss her stay out of town since she returned.

Mr. Eddy retired from active business several years ago.

The president and his brother started to walk back to the White house but were overtaken by the car, a farmer having hauled it out.

THE DIVINE RIGHT OF COURTS

THE editors of the Boise (Idaho) Capital-News will not suffer in public esteem from the fact that they have been sent to jail for criticizing the action of the supreme court of their state in refusing, on the barest technicality, to thousands of voters of that state, the opportunity to vote for the presidential candidate of their choice. The three men who were sent to jail are standing for the principle that a court, as well as any other official, is but a servant of the people, and as such may be criticised by the people.

But the supreme court of Idaho will suffer in public esteem, not only in Idaho, but throughout the nation. The members of the court, stung by criticism known by them to be just, have resorted to an arbitrary power lingering on in this modern world from medieval times as a means of securing revenge upon their critics.

Idaho, as well as all the nation, has been shown once more the necessity for curbing the arbitrary powers that have been assumed by our courts. The movement will not end, either in Idaho or in the nation, until courts have been removed from the pedestal of infallibility and rhyme right to which they have exalted themselves.

Idaho does not now have the recall of judges. The sending of those editors to jail is assurance that Idaho will have the recall within a very few years. That will be the answer of the people to the court's assumption of royal prerogatives.

HOLD THEM RESPONSIBLE

ON the last day of the old year officials of two railroads were indicted on charges of manslaughter for the loss of life in two wrecks. This is what ought to be done in the case of every wreck. Someone is always responsible. Too long we good-natured Americans have been content to take our chances on the railroads, blaming ourselves for taking the wrong train if so be we happened to be caught in a wreck.

Not all the safety appliances that have been or will be invented can altogether remove the human element from railroad-riding. If directors of railroads are criminally responsible for failing to provide safe roadways, if officials of railroads are blamable for failing to keep their tracks and equipment in proper order, if employees of railroads are responsible for reckless daring, defying the train rules, then those thus guilty should be punished.

From chairman of the directors down to trackmen, railroad men have precious human lives dependent upon them. They should be held sternly responsible for any loss of life resulting from carelessness on their part.

THE STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

PRESIDENT CHARLES A. LORY is asking for a total appropriation of $326,000 for the State Agricultural college for 1913. He will not get it, of course. The finances of the state are in such shape that so much money is wasted on useless commissions and inspectors on political jobs that the educational work of the state for several years has been crippled. If the 10 per cent reduction of Denver's assessment is not prevented, the state's revenue for 1913 will be reduced by $80,000, and this loss, with the payment of the "robber seventh's" stealings, which the courts have decided must be made, will, it is feared, require severe retrenchment in all directions.

But no department of the state's work is more deserving than the agricultural college. It has been doing splendid work, in spite of the fact that it has been seriously hampered, as to its experiment station and extension service, by lack of funds. As President Lory points out, "General methods in institute work cannot be used in Colorado. The best system of rotation in the north is not adapted to the south. Special work must be done for and in each section. This requires extensive field work and able men, and it takes a long time to creased crops, in enlarged areas of cultivation, in better methods of marketing, in knowledge of conservation of soil, of animals, of human strength and life.

That the college is increasingly answering the needs of the people of the state is proved by the fact that in two years attendance in the college classes has increased 50.6 per cent, while attendance on the short course in agriculture has increased 30 per cent. During the past year attendance at the farmers' institutes conducted by the agricultural college was 42,831, while 54,050 persons attended the train institutes.

The legislature should make every possible effort to grant the full request of the agricultural college board for funds. The people of the state would raise no protest whatever if a number of useless political boards and commissions should be abolished in order to secure the funds necessary to further the work of the agricultural college.

PROGRESSIVE COLORADO

COLORADO has so long been regarded as a corporation-controlled state that even we who live here have accepted the designation. As a matter of fact Colorado has become one of the most progressive states of the Union. And, strange to say, this revolution has taken place in spite of the fact that both the old parties are still almost entirely controlled by the bipartisan, corporation-owned machine.

It is the people themselves who have made Colorado progressive. They have taken into their own hands the reins of government. There are few states, indeed, that have adopted a longer list of progressive legislation that Colorado has secured within the past few years. Here are some of the reforms:

The initiative and referendum.
The recall of all officials, including judges.
Direct primaries.
Commission government and home rule for cities.
Mother's compensation.
Recall of decisions.
Woman's eight-hour law.
Miners' eight-hour law.
Headless ballot.
State civil service.

These measures comprise the very essence of progressivism. There are few states that have gone farther than Colorado in adopting this program. And, with the exception of the primary law, which needs revising to fit it of the assembly feature, every one of these reforms was adopted by direct vote of the people. The people have shown themselves far more progressive than have the politicians.

A number of other progressive measures are imperatively needed. Chief among these are laws for a public utilities commission, for a minimum wage for women, for workmen's compensation, for a centralized commission to take charge of the state's charitable institutions. Some of these may be secured from the present legislature. If not, they will be secured by the people themselves at the next election, through the initiative. For the people have learned how to conduct their own government, and are no longer dependent upon the whim of the politicians.

DEMOCRATS FIGHTING AGAIN

COLORADO-democracy has not yet learned its lesson. William Adams leads in the vote for president pro tem of the senate. He had all but seven of the Democratic votes on the first ballot. The progressive Democrats seem to be in a hopeless minority.

The election of Adams would, of course, sound the death knell for any progressive legislation. If elected, he will control the senate absolutely and there is no more rock-ribbed conservative in the state than he.

It is said that Adams expects eventually to be elected with Republican and Progressive assistance. Any man who should vote for Adams would by that very fact forfeit all claim to be called a Progressive. The recall should immediately be applied.

A SPLENDID MOVEMENT

TONIGHT the various church brotherhoods will meet for the purpose of uniting in a common brotherhood, in which all, regardless of denomination, shall work together. It is a movement promising so much for the future that all men, members of any of the brotherhoods, should be present.

TURKS GIVE WAY

PEACE in Europe is not yet assured. But it is coming measurably nearer every day. The Turk yields gradually, if not gracefully, to the demands of his allied conquerors.

Despite the rumors of friction between the allies they have thus far held together with remarkable unanimity. So long as they do this it is difficult to see how, in the end, Turkey can escape from granting their demands.

Adrianople, in fact, is now the one stumbling block. And, while this remains in Turkish hands, it is only a question of time, if war is renewed, until it must fall. For while the Turks may now be strong enough to keep the allies from com-stantinople, they cannot take the offensive, and, that being the case, Adrianople must eventually fall.

Controversial letters will not be published without the signature of the writer. Communications for this department should be limited to 400 words and should be free from personalities.)

THE FOLLY OF COMPETITION.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
According to the census of 1910, those firms producing an average value of over $1,000,000 each per year, although comprising but 1 per cent of the total number of firms engaged in manufacture, produced 44 per cent of all manufactured products. The average value produced annually by each employee of these firms amounted to $3,497.

In the establishments whose annual output was valued at less than $1,000,000, and whose commodities aggregated 56 per cent of total manufactured products, the value produced by each wage worker was $1,551 per annum. (See Wanting Human Life, page 3, by A. M. Silmons.)

These figures prove conclusively that the large firms are able to manufacture their wares much more economically than do the small firms. Yet the Democrats would have us return to competition, which would mean a number of smaller concerns doing the business one large firm or trust is now engaged in.

Could this possibly have any other result than greatly to increase the cost of production?

Under Socialism the industries would belong to the people. They would be managed in the interests of all, and not for the means by which the few enslave and rob the many of the values their labor creates. Of course, if the industries were socialized, every advantage would be taken of improved methods of production.

Be it understood that under this system increased efficiency in production in no way benefits the wage worker, for the entire product of his labor belongs to the employer, the employee receiving a mere subsistence, in the form of wages, but such would not be the case if industries were public property, instead of being privately owned.

FROM OTHER PENS

THE TROUBLED CANNERS.

From the New York Tribune.
Pity the poor canners of New York state! Before the state factory investigating commission has finished bawling them over the coals for having children to work at midnight and before dock-row, the wholesale grocers of Oklahoma have declared a boycott against them on the ground that their products are unsanitary and unwholesome.

The canners doubtless will sigh and remark that trouble never comes singly in this vale of tears. It is just possible, though, that there is some connection, not too closely, between these troubles of the canners. Oklahoma is a state imbued with foolish modern notions of protecting women and children workers and maintaining sanitary factories. It would be just like the people in a state like that to conceive a violent prejudice against the products of a state where they have such ideas might feel that canned stuff prepared by children of tender years before daylight would be no better than they really ought to be. Perhaps they suspect that manufacturers are careless of their employees would be equally careless of their products.

But, after all the canners shouldn't worry. They have assured the legislative committee that they cannot legislate humanity into business. They should also assure the Oklahoma grocers that they cannot boycott sense into employers and sanitation into factories.

On Length of Days

By RUTH CAMERON.

The other day I chanced to come into conversation with a man who is nearly ninety years old. And if it were by the exercise of some rare virtue or wisdom that he had attained that age, he could not be any prouder than he is.

He is not a man who has accomplished anything in the world; he is distinctly narrow, and unintellectual, the exercise of all kinds of pretensions. And yet he thinks his 90 years something to be tremendously proud of.

What queer folks we mortals are! What strange things we select to be proud of. Why, I know a young woman of 25 light and of a very crabbed disposition. The years have neither mellowed him nor given him wisdom. He is a stupid, unkind, unfeeling, and not a little bit of a snob.

Moreover he is very sickly and only prolongs his existence by the exercise of the fact that she is incapable of doing the simplest household task. I know another girl who takes infinite pride in the fact that she can't bear to eat ice cream with a spoon, but must have a fork. And then there's a man who plumes himself on the fact that he can't find out in anyone and just there if I keep this up I shall have my spine like my original subject.

To return to the main road. Length of life is a blessing, the Bible says so. But how can anyone in his senses think it is to be compared with depth of life?

There is a woman between 70 and 80 in our neighborhood who has prolonged a life of nervous invalidism for the last 40 years by concentrating on the task of keeping alive and by sipping the very life blood of the rest of the family. Surely this woman would have had a better score to present to the Almighty. Somewhere if she had really lived, even if by so doing she has shortened her years by half. Surely her length of life is not to be compared with the few packed years of a young man who recently died at the age of 30 after having educated his two sisters, placed his father and mother in a position of financial comfort for the rest of their lives, enjoyed several deep friendships, seen considerable of the world and influenced many lives for the better.

If he had not lived so deeply he might have lived longer. Yes, and perhaps Deethoven or Shakespeare might have lived to be old men if they had not banded their vitality and not poured it out into their work.

But surely no one wishes they had done that. Whether a man's life is long or short is a matter of comparatively small importance. A hundred years or 30 are mighty near the same when ranged side of infinity.

But whether a man's life is deep and wide and full does mean the passing of the day.

There are those who say that the only way to live is to live to the hilt, to give of one's self to the utmost, to make the most of every day.

BILL BOARDS
By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Swash"

A billboard is an overgrown fence with a crime against art on it. Billboards are more prevalent in this country than grasshoppers, smallpox or dukes, and do more damage than any of these. On a fair-sized billboard in a residence neighborhood can be seen the work of 10 high-priced architects, and two of them will cause the visitor to sneer audibly as he hurries past a suburb with 5,000,000 worth of fine buildings in it.

Billboards are made by nailing large quantities of lumber onto uprights and cross-pieces and plastering paper posters on them. From time to time the paper peels off and falls to the ground, where it remains forever unless the neighborhood is infested with goats. It is hard to tell which is worse—goats or a billboard which sheds. People endure the latter long as they can and then import enough goats to eat up the paper. Then, after they have wood the goats a spell or two they go back to the moulting billboard with shouts of relief.

Billboards are a source of great profit to the men who rent them and to the men who advertise on them. A man can obtain more from a billboard half a block long than he could by writing a book on good government. They are also profitable to the men who advertise on them.

"The billboard is fond of good company."

use on them. This however, is due to the fact that this is a careless and good-natured country. The billboards not only receive out and attract the passer-by's attention, but it lams him with a club if he happens to be a man of good taste.

Billboards are usually arrayed in gorgeous colors, which combine regardless of harmony and fill the scene with quarrelling reds, browns and greens. The billboard is fond of good company, and loves nothing so much as to nestle up against a priceless watercolor of a marble and gallery and hang all the beauty out of the latter. After a man has lived in a city badly infested with billboards for a few years his sense of color is so blunted that he will wear a green tie against a blue shirt and never feel the pain.

Industrious billboardists have lined most of our popular railroads with billboards advertising cosmetics, shoes, patent medicines, summer resorts, theaters, and even so that even the who runs away too to read. For this reason, automobile and deep sea travel have become immensely popular, and the advertiser lives a blessed and artistic life far above average until he is killed.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Vexation and annoyance will come to you, and your health will need good care. If you are able to see through the fog of the year to the main purpose you will turn the year to good account.

Those born today will have strong characters and will be tireless in acquiring of knowledge. They should be taught to temper their energy with consideration for others, for they will be inclined to run to extremes and to lose friendships and influence thereby.

THE IGOROTS OF THE PHILIPPINES

From the Southern Workman.

The Igorots (meaning "hill people") are of an ancient Malay stock, the most ancient in the Philippines. They may be inferred from the fact that they do not even have any traditions of ever having lived in any other place than in that which they now occupy. Despite the four centuries of Spanish domination, the Igorots have not been able to convert these half-million savages to Christianity or civilization. They have no system of writing, and their religious is pragmatic rather than logical; that is to say, they judge actions by results. Their fathers and forefathers irrigated the mountain-sides, built wonderful rice terraces, cultivated rice and camotes (sweet potatoes), drank tapoi (rice cider), ate roasted pig and gave thanks to Lumawig (Great Spirit) when the harvest was done. It is all so simple, so clear and so sane.

Under the old Spanish regime the Igorots indulged in the gentle art of hunting each other's heads. To the Spaniards who traveled through the mountains armed to the teeth and as seldom as possible, these people were more or less enshrined in mystery, and were probably referred to as wicked heathens, or bogie men. But Uncle Sam stepped in, and, owing largely to the efforts of Dr. Dean C. Worcester, now secretary of the interior of the Philippine insular government, and of Governor Pack, together with their deputies, has discouraged this disconcerting practice so that it goes on only in very remote places and very quietly. Excellent mountain trails have been made into the unexplored interior and a single standard of justice to all tribes has been established. As far as possible, the Igorots are allowed to retain their own customs, which have the force of law.

Now is the very best time to have your Xmas photographs framed.

THE HASKIN LETTER

IMMIGRATION
XXV—HOW THE "NEW" IMMIGRANT LIVES.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

A study of the conditions under which the new immigration lives after coming to America, serves to convince the student that he is often something of a hero. He often lives in filth and squalor, but frequently it is necessity that compels him to go where conditions are so bad that they would make the best of us indifferent, but he lives in this way so that he may provide for his family, present or prospective. If he has a family with him in America, he shows himself proud of heart by bearing uncomplainingly the hardships of today in order that his family's needs may be met tomorrow.

The hundreds of thousands of immigrants who live in camps lead an isolated life. Their daily existence is little more than working, eating, sleeping in endless round. They live in shacks, have about as few of the creature comforts as men may have, and their only diversions are drinking and gambling. Here is a picture of camp life on a great engineering project—the New York Barge canal—drawn by Peter Roberts.

How Italians Live.

Italians formed the major part of the labor force, and the accommodations furnished most of them were shacks. They were men, and men who had been working in the mines when they came to America. The cooking they did was not elaborate. It was easier and pleasanter to get a loaf of bread, a piece of bologna, and a bottle of beer at the commissary. In these camps the commissary boss is supreme, and the men must buy of him if they wish to retain their jobs. He has both wit and dry goods for sale, and believes in charging all the traffic will bear. Often he collects a fee for each man to whom he gives work. The coarse, vulgar elements of human nature come to the fore; the indecent story, the vulgar joke and the immoral picture are passed around. Conditions of this kind can only be duplicated in some towns in southern Italy. The workmen are removed from all agencies that mold and shape coming Americans; deprived of the refining influences of women and the soothing touch of childhood.

The women of the immigrant community appreciate the help and encouragement of American women—something they do not often get. The life of these women is seldom easy, and often hard and dreary. Their homes have many births and many deaths. They are as meek and submissive in the home as the men are at work. An instance of what a good American may do is that of a Pennsylvania woman who visits the houses of the poor immigrant women in her community and carries to them the gospel of cleanliness. Often these women protest that there is something in dirt and vermin. But the sweet cleanliness of the visitor comes in and the parasites go out. She teaches them how to feed their children, and then invites them to little meetings which she holds. They come washed and neatly dressed, and from month to month their homes grow better kept and their burdens grow lighter.

Forty-six in One House.
High rents and a desire to save produce overcrowding among the poor natives of immigrants, but especially among the latter. In small houses in Omaha, 46 Greeks lived and ate and slept. In an eastern city a Rumanian, his wife, their two children and seven boarders occupied one room. In another boarding house 42 foreigners lived in four rooms, each room 13 feet square, while in another place 24 foreigners lived in one room, 15 by 15 feet. In some of the boarding houses the beds are used in two shifts by day workers at night and by night workers in the day time.

One of the most interesting phases of the investigation of the immigration problem made by the immigration commission concerned the condition of the homes of immigrants in cities. Perhaps the most striking result was the showing of the large percentage of clean homes among immigrants in spite of their being forced so often to reside in districts where proper standards of cleanliness are hardest to maintain. The investigation covered more than 16,000 households in cities and found that 8,000 of them were in good condition. There were 1,000,000 people in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Buffalo, and Milwaukee. Four-fifths of these households were in apartments of four rooms or less. A third of them were four-room apartments, and nearly a third were three-room apartments. While nearly all of the households of the new immigration had about five people for every two sleeping rooms, they still managed to keep things fairly clean in a large majority of these homes. In more than half of the households of the foreigners they had but one room outside of the sleeping rooms, and in one-eighth of them they had no rooms except the sleeping rooms.

Many Keep Boards.

In more than one-fourth of the foreign households boarders were kept, while in only one-tenth of the native households were boarders found. As is the rule in most things, the children of immigrants seem to be about half American and half foreigners in this respect. One-sixth of their households have boarders. The equipment of an average foreigner's home was only about half as good as that of native Americans, in such matters as water supply, toilet accommodations and other facilities. All of these conveniences are found much more frequently among the people of the "old" immigration than among those of the "new." And yet in spite of all the drawbacks of overcrowding, keeping boarders, having only one room they did not have to sleep in, lacking proper equipment, and the like, only one-seventh of the Syrians had homes in which conditions were bad, only one-fifth of the Slovenians, only one-sixth of the Slovaks, Poles and Hebrews, and only one-tenth of the Magyars.

The foreigners of the new immigration are famous for their societies. It is estimated that there are a hundred national societies of one kind or another among the Italians of the country. There are estimated to be 7,000 societies and clubs of all kinds among the Poles of the country, and they have an aggregate membership of 800,000. Among the Slovenians there are some 1,500 clubs and societies, with a total membership approximating 125,000. Among the Slavic peoples in Europe there is a communal tendency. The lands near the villages are cultivated on a communal basis and all prosper, or starve, together. Their societies and clubs in the United States are a reflection of this.

Church Organizations.

There are a large number of church organizations. Some of these pay sick and death benefits, and their members are under the ultimate control of the spiritual advisers of the people. There are also many secular organizations, looking to the protection of their members in case of sickness and death. The Italian government always has taken a deep interest in the Italian immigrant, and has instituted a protective society for Italian labor, which is supported partly by a government appropriation and partly by monthly payments from its members. Among the Poles, there are a large number of military societies. Usually there are one or more such societies in every Polish center, and the members are drilled like soldiers. A Polish priest has estimated that there are 20,000 Poles receiving some sort of military training in the United States, in anticipation of the day when they beloved Poland attempts to free itself from the grip of Russia.

The main body of the "new" immigration is Catholic. Out of 1,000,000 immigrants arriving probably 600,000 are of Catholic affiliations. It is estimated that during the past 20 years, 10,000,000 Catholics have come to America. To shepherd these millions of souls, speaking 30 different languages, to soothe race hatred and national prejudices, and do the many other things that such a situation involves, are problems the like of which no ecclesiastical body ever has had to meet.

Recreation as Relaxation.

When the foreigner takes his recreation it is usually in a spirit of relaxation. They go to their games in a leisurely, easy-going way, that is not calculated to quicken the pulse or excite the enthusiasm. They love their holidays, however, and have as many of them as the experiences of their own people.

ELECTRIC ROAD THROUGH SPRINGS AGAIN REPORTED

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, Jan. 2.—Preliminary steps are being taken by Frank E. Read of Denver toward building an electric interurban railroad from Colorado Springs to Greeley, through Denver. A proposed route through the city has been picked out, and attorneys are now studying the city charter relative to getting a franchise for the road into the business district.

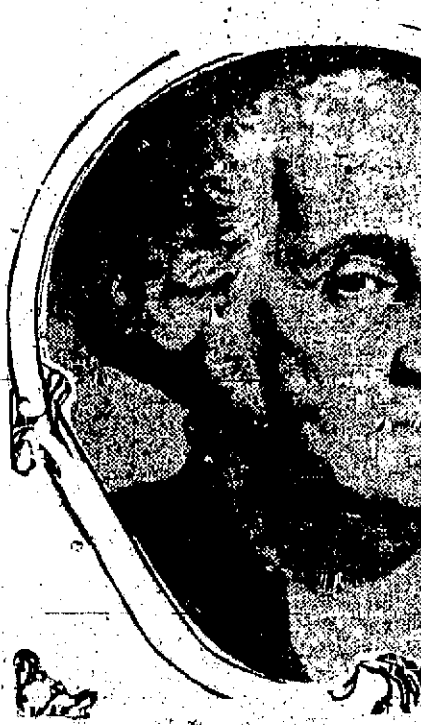

Mr. Read said that such a line would pay handsomely and that he had no doubt of easily financing it, provided the cars can get into the downtown section of the city. The road will cost about $3,000,000.

Two lines to Greeley have been gone over by engineers, but it has not yet been decided which will be the more profitable. One of them follows close to the line of the Union Pacific railroad and the other is shorter and more direct, but does not touch any of the principal towns.

"The success of the entire project depends on securing a franchise to build and operate the line through Denver," said Mr. Read. "The line must come into the city and penetrate the business district in order to be practical or to interest capital. I have had the matter up with several eastern capitalists, who feel kindly toward the proposition, and have been assured that it will be an easy matter to raise the money for the road's construction if the franchise through Denver is secured."

Nothing is known of the above proposition here, although periodical reports of an interurban electric road through Colorado Springs have been circulated for years. A road between Denver and Pueblo, through Colorado Springs, has figured in previous reports, but an extension north from Denver to Greeley is a new feature.

BAILEY ADVISES

operators. As he concluded a wave of applause swept through the galleries, bringing a sharp reprimand from Senator Ashurst, the presiding officer.

Conflict Is With Roosevelt.

President-elect Wilson, although not mentioned by name, was the subject of a long and bitter attack by Senator Bailey, who declared that the administration is not in accord with the principle of American government, and that it is receiving considerable attention in official circles throughout the United Kingdom.

"If the men we have elected president of the United States give the country a sane and satisfactory administration," he declared, "the Republican party will never nominate another candidate for the presidency. Why should you?" he continued, advancing toward the Republican side of the chamber. "You did not carry but two states this year, and those two of the smallest. The voters four years from now will be between us and the Rooseveltians. He (Roosevelt) will take some more, but thank God, they will be the kind we can afford to lose."

"Our conflict is with Roosevelt. If President-elect Wilson can take the radical vote away from Roosevelt, he is mistaken. The only man who can do that and be fair, not successful, is the well-known Senator Bailey. He is the only man who can do that and be fair, not successful, is the well-known Senator Bailey. He is the only man who can do that and be fair, not successful, is the well-known Senator Bailey."

Harks Back to Early Days.
Much of Senator Bailey's speech was devoted to a recapitulation of the history of the American government, from the writings of the men who organized and administered the early years of the American government, and to the student who, in later years, had discussed the effect of direct legislation. From the former he drew what he said was an irrefragable proof that the United States began as a democracy of direct legislation. From the latter, among whom was Governor Wilson, he quoted to show that the opinion of students was that the people were not so well qualified to legislate as were the men selected by them, who framed their legislation in deliberative assembly.

At one point Senator Bailey produced a book of 208 pages which he said represented the 32 questions submitted to the direct vote of the people of Oregon in one year.

"Now, honor bright," he said, "have any citizens do you suppose there are who studied these questions? How many understood them when they did study them? I do not mean to reflect on the intelligence of the people, but I say they vote as they understand them, with the opportunity they were given to study them. I could not do it myself."

Compulsory Franchise.
He said that in Switzerland the people had become disgusted with the complexity of the system of indirect legislation, and had gradually refused to go to the polls. A compulsory voting law, he said, had not succeeded, and they had finally determined to pay voters.

"Make an vote, and if they won't pay to go to vote, is the principle suggested," said Senator Bailey.

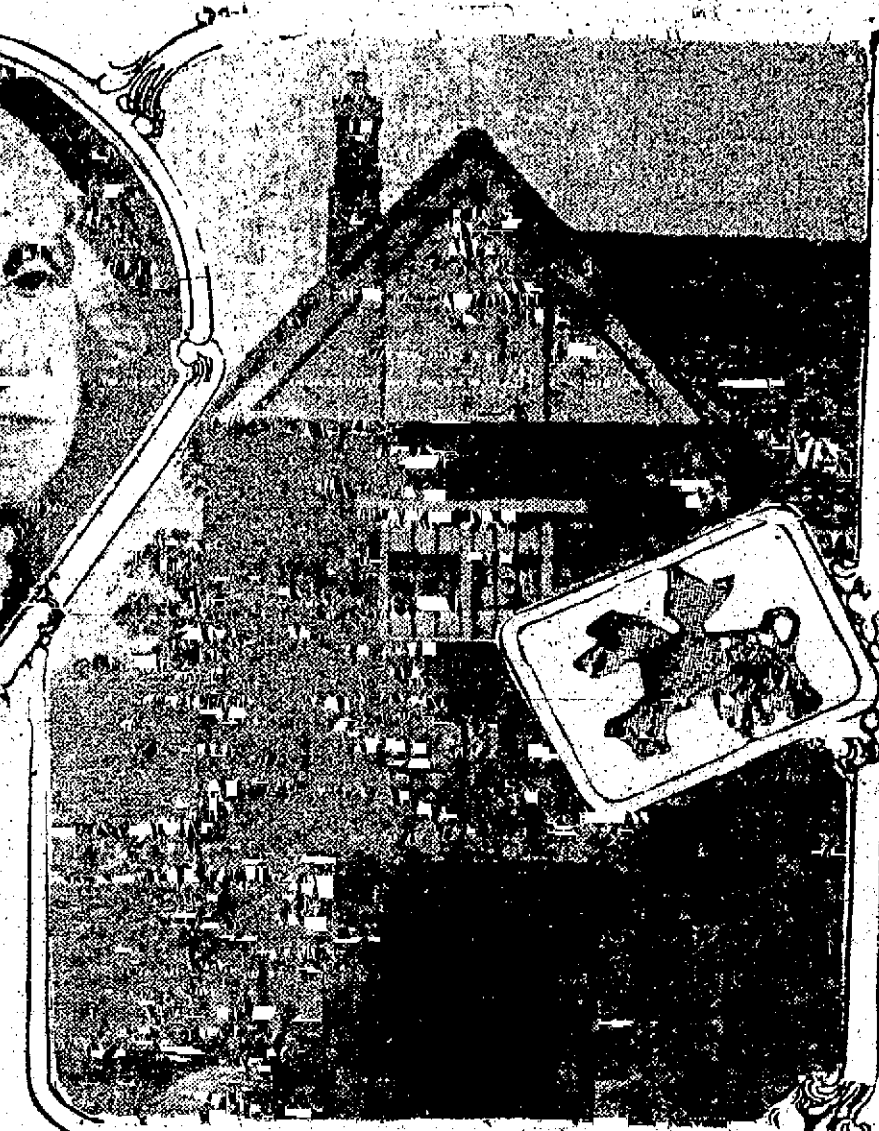

Sensor Bailey said that on states where constitutional amendments had been submitted to the people but a small proportion of the citizens voted upon them.

In Wisconsin, he said, it ran as low as from 14 to 24 per cent. In Oregon, he declared, on a question involving the future of the state's university, in which the ballot had become keenly interested, but 80 per cent had voted on the question.

Ashurst Answers Bailey.

Senator Ashurst, following Senator Bailey, said that the percentage had varied on public questions in the states where direct legislation was used.

ONE KILLED, SEVEN HURT WHEN ENGINE FALLS DOWN HILL

BINGHAM, Utah, Jan. 2.—One man was killed and seven others seriously injured when a locomotive pushing a snowplow slipped from the track on the level of the surface workings of the Utah Copper company today and rolled 150 feet down the hill to the next level. One of the injured men probably will die, the others, it is said, will recover.

The locomotive was returning to Bingham after clearing the tracks on the mine levels to permit the steam shovels resuming work. Fifteen workmen climbed aboard the locomotive to ride back to town, and had traveled but a few feet when the engine slipped from the track and crashed down the hill. Seven of the number escaped unhurt.

Government Is Advised.
ASTORIA, Tex., Jan. 2.—Governor Campbell announced tonight that he has been immediately advised that the resignation of United States Senator Bailey will be presented within the next few days. He said he would appoint H. M. Johnston, a former member of the Houston Post, to complete Senator Bailey's unexpired term.

THIEVES GET AWAY AFTER ROBBING GOLIN'S STORE

Books to the value of $150 were stolen from the clothing store of A. Golin, 423 Colorado avenue, Wednesday night. No clue to the robber has so far been obtained, other than the fact, the police say, that it seems to have been done by some one well acquainted with the premises. The goods taken comprised jewelry, silk handkerchiefs, neckties, clothing and one suit case. The robbery was discovered by Golin when he came to open the store for business yesterday morning. The burglar had gained entrance by cutting away a back window screen and pushing up the window, which had been left unlocked. A small child, which had evidently been used on the playground, was found on the floor yesterday morning. The electric light, which had been left burning the evening before, was turned off, and several hundred matches were scattered over the floor.

The suit case and an overcoat taken had been on exhibition in the front window, and the robber passed several other bags and coats in the store to get these particular articles. He evidently tried the coat on, for the tag that had been pinned to it was found on the floor of the store.

One Sunday evening recently Golin's nephew entered the store and caught two men in the act of filling suit cases with plunder. As he reached for the light a gun was pointed at him, and he was ordered to throw up his hands. One of the robbers then marched him to the back of the store, while the other walked out the front door. Golin's nephew then made his escape the same way, leaving the booty behind.

Residence of C. E. Richardson burned.

A four-room house just south of the Midvale tracks on Sixth street, belonging to C. E. Richardson, a hair dresser for Jacob Schmaltz, was gutted by fire at about 9 o'clock last night. The blaze apparently started from a chimney. The frame of the house itself was not wholly destroyed, but most of the interior furnishings were, the contents of two trunks alone being saved. The damage, while not fixed exactly, is estimated at $300.

Albert Mantz and Mrs. Mae Campbell were married last Wednesday by Justice Faulkner. Mrs. Campbell, whose children had been at the detention home in Colorado Springs, took them away a few weeks ago, and was arrested on a charge of assaulting the matron, Mrs. Charty Fields. The case was afterward dismissed, as was the investigation of cruelty charges made against Mrs. Fields. Later, Violet, the 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. Campbell, was picked up in Denver and returned here, after having disappeared from her home in Colorado City some weeks before.

Knocked Gene Hayden, a companion, through a plate glass window in the Hoffman pool hall. The police captured Hayden, but Brown got away. Hayden was held blameless by Judge McCosch yesterday morning and was released.

Samuel J. Bryan, newly elected county treasurer, who has been visiting in Kansas, is expected to return Sunday. Bryan's place as justice of the peace has been taken by H. J. McLaughlin, one of the newly-elected justices.

Miss Minnie E. Thompson, 116 Colorado avenue, teacher of the fifth grade at the Whittier school, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Glocker sanatorium in Colorado Springs recently. Samuel Wynkoop, 307 Grant avenue, has returned from Sterling, Colo., where he was called on account of the death of his father, John Wynkoop, who was one of the early pioneers of northeastern Colorado. He was prominent in church and Masonic circles, and was buried with Masonic honors, being a member of that fraternity since 1869.

J. T. McCracken of Missouri yesterday leased the Quinby house, corner of Fourth street and Lincoln avenue, and will take possession today. The deal was made through J. P. Jackson. McCracken will bring his wife and four daughters here in the near future, as they expect to live in this city for a year. McCracken is a cousin of Samuel T. McCracken.

Literature of the campaign previous to the election of a senator convention next Tuesday began to appear yesterday. The Charter party issued a small, four-page paper called "The Charter News," in support of its ticket and of charged the governor to be elected. Besides the partisan material, the paper contained considerable explanation as to the qualifications for voting at the election and as to the method of marking the ballots. A leaflet opposing the Charter party also was issued yesterday.

plained the situation to his passengers.

Chairman Pajo's Statement.

In his statement tonight Mr. Pajo said:

"At my request a subpoena was issued under the signature of the speaker of the house and by authority of law some time last June. Notwithstanding repeated efforts of the sergeant-at-arm and his force they have been unable to make service."

"Not long since a certificate was sent to me through the office of Judge Elliott of New York city and was transmitted by James K. Jones, attorney, of Washington, stating that Mr. Rockefeller's health was such as to prevent him from coming to Washington to testify as a witness of fact testifying as all. I took the position that I could not consider the facts stated in the certificate unless Mr. Rockefeller was served with a subpoena, unless some one in authority accepted service for him."

House Has Power Service.

"There is no disposition on my part or on that of the committee to endanger the life of any one whose testimony may be required by the committee, but the state of one's health is a matter of fact to be ascertained by the committee and cannot be considered before service or acknowledgment of service."

"Council for the committee and I offered to go to New York to Mr. Rockefeller's home or his office and there take his depositions with his counsel present, at his convenience. If his state of health were such as to discommode him from testifying for only a few minutes at a time. This offer has not been accepted."

"The house of representatives of the United States, through the committee of which I am chairman, in my opinion, has the legal power to have process served upon anyone within the jurisdiction of the federal government, and it is to be hoped that it will not become necessary to put this force in full motion in order to accomplish the desired result."

Disappears Again.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Jan. 2.—William Rockefeller, wanted as a witness before the Pajo "money trust" investigating committee, sailed for an unknown port, according to information received here tonight.

Accompanied by his wife and son, William G. Rockefeller, as well as the late's wife, Mr. Rockefeller arrived at Jacksonville, Fla., about three weeks ago, according to the reports. Instead of going to the Rockefeller winter home the party put quarters in an apartment house and remained in seclusion. The apartment house is near the home of Mr. Rockefeller.

Extreme secrecy is maintained by residents of Jacksonville regarding the departure of the Rockefellers. The name of the vessel on which they left also has been carefully withheld.

Tonight, we are told that Mr. Rockefeller chartered a special steamer. A rumor also was current that the party sailed on the private yacht of a New York sportsman and that their destination was Bermuda.

GARMENT WORKERS STRIKE CONTINUES

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Efforts to settle the garment workers strike today failed. The various agencies working for peace did not find a basis upon which manufacturers and employees might agree.

Strike leaders say no more mass meetings were planned for the present because the enthusiasm of the workers was so great that further meetings were useless.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—Representatives of garment workers unions in this city met today and adopted resolutions protesting against their employers' assisting New York manufacturers by doing their work. The workers here declare that if the manufacturers persist in doing the work a strike will be called here.

WALSENBURG IN GRIP OF SCARLET FEVER EPIDEMIC

WALSENBURG, Jan. 2. Attendance at churches and the assemblage of all groups in this city were prohibited today by the mayor and other executives of the city administration in an effort to stop the spread of scarlet fever epidemic which now has claimed 50 victims, seven of whom are dead. Postmen, solicitors and delivery men are not permitted to enter houses.

School houses have been abandoned indefinitely. A score of special police, the most expert marksmen in the city, have been sworn in to shoot every dog and cat seen on the streets of the town. The special officers are scattered all over the city and keep watch day and night. A most rigid quarantine is being observed, but in spite of it and all the city health department can do to stop the plague, scarlet fever is rapidly spreading all over the city, no district being immune.

Pollock for making an order last Monday compelling the Kansas Natural Gas company to increase the wholesale price of natural gas in Kansas City to 31 cents a thousand cubic feet.

CALLAHAN PLANS SAFE TRIP FOR SOX

Comiskey Sets February 20
as Date to Depart From Chicago

By I. E. SANBORN.
CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Plans for the elaborate but safe training trip that is being shaped up for the White Sox next spring, were outlined yesterday by Manager Callahan, leaving scope of the trip to be worked out and announced later. The Pacific coast, where Comiskey's team trained for three years prior to 1911, will be the destination again and the trip will be longer than had been previous in the work required than any of the previous jaunts to California.

The probable date of departure from Chicago has been fixed at February 20 and will not be changed, except for cause. The trip to San Francisco will be made in the usual de luxe special train over a route yet to be selected. It is planned to reach the Golden Gate city on February 23, which is a Sunday, and to proceed to Paso Robles that night, arriving at the health resort on the morning of February 24.

Players Ordered to Exercise.
Ten days have been allotted for getting the players into good physical condition at Paso Robles and the work will begin immediately on their arrival. But it is planned to play no baseball while there. Instead, the men will be asked to "hammer" themselves gradually by exercise, handball, bathing, and the general workouts usually given athletes.

The conditioning period will end on March 5, and that night the White Sox will split into the usual two divisions. The first squad will proceed to San Francisco and the second squad to Los Angeles for a fortnight's stay, during which some exhibition games will be played. The first squad will include the Erison and Clendenen teams on Saturdays and Sundays and may make an inland excursion during the middle of the week. The second squad will play the Los Angeles and Vernon teams, with an occasional visit to smaller places.

March 19 will find the two squads on the road to Chicago, and during the fortnight following their date the first team will be located in Los Angeles and the second team in San Francisco, playing exhibition games on Saturdays and Sundays and sometimes on other days.

Start Back April 1 or 2.
That means the Sox will be kept in California until April 1 or 2, on one of which dates the two teams will start eastward. The first squad will return by the southern route and will be brought back as far as St. Joseph, Mo., practically without stop, arriving there April 5. The St. Joseph club has a major league diamond, which will be used for the first game. The Callahans will stay there four days to acclimate, polish and taper off their work under advantageous conditions, playing several exhibition games with the Western league team in that city.

On the night of April 5 the regulars will proceed to St. Louis, where they are booked to open the championship season against the Browns. April 10, that will give them a full day and night to rest up from their travels before tackling the men of St. Louis.

Meantime the second squad will leave San Francisco to return by the central route, playing a few games on the way to Chicago, to which they will return in time to enable some of them to join the first squad in the mound city.

Complete Schedule Not Ready.
The complete schedule of exhibition games has not been made up, but Acting Secretary Grabner is at work arranging its final details before official announcement will be made. President O'Neill of the Western league, however, has not his headquarters in Chicago, and will go to California a few days ahead of the White Sox to see that everything is ready for their entertainment at Paso Robles.

All of the 6 players who do not winter on the coast or along the route of the White Sox special will be ordered to report in Chicago in time to make the trip a bunch.

Sam Crawford Requests
Big Increase in Salary

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 4.—Sam Crawford, who has informed President Navin that he wants to play with the Tigers next year, has asked for a $1,000 increase in salary, according to reports from New Orleans, where he is now. Crawford is a member of the Peoria team, which is now in the Western league.

Crawford said today that he did not intend to call upon Mr. Navin again, that the Tiger chief knew what he wanted, and that there was no use talking further. Aside from this, Sam would not say much of his intentions, except that he intended to remain in New Orleans until spring anyway, whether or not Mr. Navin sent him a contract naming the figures he had demanded.

It is understood that Sam owns stock in the company he will work for, and has been planning for some time to acquire active connection with it when he was through with baseball.

President Navin declined to discuss the latest phase of the Crawford case. He has plenty of trouble on his hands, with several star ball players talking on terms, and is not anxious to make a public debate of the matter. He has said that it is absurd for Crawford to expect an increase of salary, with the team doing nothing in the race, and thereby falling away as a gate attraction.

FANS BELIEVE LAJOLE IS READY TO QUIT BASEBALL

By JOHN D. FOSTER.
NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Some fans of the Sox believe that Lajole is ready to quit baseball and go into business. The reason for this belief is that Lajole has been playing very poorly lately, and is not getting much of the playing time.

formal release papers from President Hermann of the Cincinnati Nationals. Last Friday Mr. Farrell was notified by President Johnson of the American league that Mr. Hermann, having secured waivers on Chance from all National league clubs, was ready to make the transfer. Mr. Farrell accordingly mailed a check for $1,500 to President Hermann, which was duly acknowledged and thereupon the meeting between Farrell and Chance in Chicago next Tuesday, announced yesterday, was arranged.

The receipt of Chance's release officially confirmed the deal, and for the first time gave the New York club a clear title to the services of the former manager of the Chicago Nationals.

English Golfer Will Try American Courses

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—George Duncan, one of Great Britain's most prominent professional golfers, plans a visit to the United States next fall. The Hanger Hill player expects to arrive here in September for a short tour of prominent American courses, principally in the east. He probably will meet some of the best players on this side before he returns to his native heath.

Some time ago there was a report to the effect that four of Britain's most famous professional golfers would make a tour of America—Duncan, Harry Gordon, James Braid and the late, lamented, Edward R. Alcock. According to a prominent player who recently returned from Scotland and England, there is likely to be no such visit of professionals, for it is too expensive a proposition for a club to put up satisfactory purses for four professionals of this class.

However, Duncan's visit two years ago was so successful and he made so many friends by his dashing style of play that he has longed to repeat the tour. This time, though, he will first visit so many links, being content with the important ones, mostly in the east. On his last trip he played over about twenty American courses, including the famous National links, near Shinnecock Hills, L. I., and the Myopia links in Massachusetts, declared by many among the best in the world. Duncan won most of his matches when here, but his last appearance was a defeat.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD"

Denman Thompson's "Old Homestead" will be seen here tomorrow night and night. What would be the season without it? For to many of us of the present generation our first experience at the theater was in witnessing "The Old Homestead." We were taken to see this charming play in our childhood days because it was known and talked about in church and Sunday school circles as being one of the very few dramas that could be witnessed with perfect safety to the doubtless go on for many more years delighting theatergoers all over the country. There is scarcely a city, large or small, in the country, where "The Old Homestead" has not been seen. The famous quartet of farm hands and Grace church choir is still a musical feature of the production.

DUSTIN FARNUM, IN "THE LITTLEST REBEL"

A. H. Woods will bring his big attraction to the Grand Opera House Monday night, January 6, when their sterling actor, Dustin Farnum, will appear in the new "The Littlest Rebel." The famous quartet of farm hands and Grace church choir is still a musical feature of the production. This latest offering is said to warm the blood with its thrilling scenes and touching story of the father who braves all risks to bring food to his little daughter, who is hiding in an old log hut in the midst of the fighting zone. The great battle scene in the third act is said to be the best since the "Shenandoah" days. Its realism has been praised by the most distinguished members of military and naval circles of this country as a truthful portrait of action of the most thrilling conflicts which occurred between northern and southern soldiers during the latter days of the civil war. As depicted in "The Littlest Rebel" no detail of an actual battle is omitted. Ships whistle through the air, cutting off huge limbs of trees, which come crashing to the ground, bullets hum in all directions, throwing up the dust as they flatten against stone walls and breastworks; the hours, commade of the contending forces are heard, have the din, urging their men into the thick of the fray, and the climax of the encounter is reached when a cannon ball, exploding, crashes its way through the stone parapet behind which the northern forces have retreated. The rebels are on the point of achieving the victory and demanding the surrender of their opponents when a troop of Yankee flying cavalry arrives and puts the "southerners to rout."

The Old Homestead will always rank among the great plays of the American stage, even after it has ceased to be presented and lingers only in memory. It has no plot, no high-flown dialogue, no rolling periods—these are all lacking. What it successfully purports to be is a character study, with plenty of light and shade, intrigue is wanting, but in its place is an exquisite representation of honest motives. The present is the twenty-seventh season of Denman Thompson's famous play, and it will
